The indications for twenty-four hours, commencing at 3 p.m. to-day, for Missouri are: Fair weather; slightly warmer; winds shifting to southerly.

SLUG the slush-grabbers.

Why does not Senator Vest come to the rescue in St. Louis?

The bosses do not care who hold the offices so they get the salaries.

The way to reform is to reform. The time to reform is election time.

HOPING the Democratic ring is upholding Democratic principles.

ONLY three days until the gang of bootblacks will be a dizzy crowd of squeakers.

The price of "floaters" is the important question just now in the Indiana Republican campaign.

The young and vigorous plumed knight of the St. Louis ring is on his knees to the Missouri Democracy.

EVERY vote for the Democratic bosses' candidates is a vote for the perpetuation of bootblacks in the party.

THE voters of St. Louis cannot decide the national result, but they may be able to elect three tariff reformers to Congress.

It is a safe rule to write "bogus" across the face of all sensational campaign documents issued between now and election day.

The Democratic bosses give all the evidence of being in a bad condition now, but they will be in a worse condition when the returns come in.

The success of the Democratic bosses' candidates will mean a levy on the salaries and the control of the appointments of all offices within grasp of the ring.

By this day next week, or sooner, we shall know whether it is the man who bet on CLEVELAND's luck or the other fellow who will have most reason to curse his own.

THERE seems to be some doubt as to whether MURCHISON is the name of a Republican, but there is no doubt that Dennis is the name of the Republican party.

That long-expected speech of Occasional Mayor FRANCIS has been published in his party organ at last. It may be summed up in these three words: "Vote for FRANCIS."

OFFICIAL notice has been given that the Republican national campaign will be a campaign of bootblacks. The fight will be between bootblacks and principle—and the voters will have to settle it.

DUDLEY's advice to Republicans in Indiana to buy all the voters they can and hold on to their purchases is not likely to work as smoothly as in 1880. It has been made public too early in the fight.

OCCASIONAL MAYOR FRANCIS is finding that bootblacks is an old-man-of-the-sea who never gives up his grip on his victim. If he is crushed by the load despite his frantic appeal for help it will be his own fault.

WHEN the National Republican Campaign Committee gives Treasurer DUDLEY his walking papers the people will have more confidence in the statement that his bootblack advice is not endorsed by the committee.

The Democratic bosses in St. Louis can send parading clubs and speakers to assist at Democratic demonstrations in neighboring towns, but they find it hard work to arouse any enthusiasm in St. Louis for the candidates of the city ring.

In another column will be found a very interesting table showing by counties the pluralities as estimated by both parties in New York, and the revised and corrected returns from the WORLD's telegraphic canvass, together with the official pluralities of the same counties in 1884. From such data each reader can make his own estimate of probabilities. As the Democratic estimate gives CLEVELAND a net plurality of 17,210, and the WORLD's a plurality of 11,460, while the Republican estimate foots up a plurality for HARRISON of 10,960, in a total vote certain to exceed 1,200,000, the judicious reader will endorse the comment of the WORLD that "The only certain thing is that New York, always a doubtful State, is this year more doubtful than ever."

PARTIES IN MISSOURI.

Democrats protest properly against any waving of the bloody shirt of the war and reconstruction period. Any such agitation of bygone issues can serve only the sinister purpose of raising the veil of prejudice between the minds of voters and the living issues of to-day.

But neither FORAKER, nor OGLESBY, nor BILL CHANDLER, nor INGALLS can beat the Democrats of Missouri at this game. In every State election the old stereotyped recital of outrages and wrongs perpetrated in the days of Republican ascendancy in Missouri is the main reliance of Democratic organs and stump speakers. It is flung in our faces as sufficient answer to every criticism of local Democratic blunders and failures. It has been dangerous before our eyes continually for sixteen years past as a sufficient reason for submitting without protest, censure or rebuke to whatever the Democratic bosses of Missouri may choose to do or leave undone.

Now, when the country at large has unmistakably rebuked such tactics on the part of the Republicans, it is about time for Democrats to put a stop to such nonsense on the part of their bosses in this State.

For the wrongs it did in the unjoined time of its ascendancy in Missouri, the Republican party was quickly rebuked and defeated by a revolt of its own voters. For eighteen years no Republican, not even one of those who helped to punish the party for its sins against the people of the State, has been permitted to hold a State office.

The argument that only one party could be trusted with the Government at Washington was used in vain against the Democrats four years ago. The defeat of the Republicans then, after their long lease of power, was for the good of their party, most probably, and certainly for the good of the country. When the supporters of a Democratic State ticket have to rely on that same exploded argument to perpetuate the ascendancy of a boss machine in local affairs, instead of proposing or doing something for the welfare of the people and to renew their confidence, it is time for the manhood of the people to assert itself by administering a resounding rebuke to such leaders at the polls. Neither Missouri nor the Union is absolutely dependent on any one party or set of party leaders for good government or for honest and patriotic service.

THE demise of the Sedalia Democrat is now attributed to the malignant and potent hostility of Republican politicians. A more accurate autopsy would probably ascribe the sad result to the persistent and pestiferous support of machine politicians of its own party. Party organisms and successful journalists are incompatible.

THE Hon. HUGH BRADY is finding out by the test of hard experience that it is easier to strike a poor fireman for a bribe of $100 than it is to secure the votes of respectable citizens when running for office. Mr. BRADY will be badly beaten, but he cannot be beaten worse than he deserves.

Judge Dillon this morning granted the plaintiff a temporary restraining order against the defendant, also requiring the latter to appear on the 8th inst., and show cause why an injunction should not be issued, in the case of the St. Louis Quarry Co. against the St. Louis Steel & Wire Co. The plaintiff enjoins the defendant from going on Vandeventer avenue, between Franklin and Olive streets, and from using or employing any of his employees therein during such time as the plaintiff may be engaged in making the street, under its contract with the city.

DOINGS IN THE COURTS.

SUITS FILED AND CAUSES HEARD BEFORE THE CIRCUIT JUDGES.

A Creditor Who Protests Against Exemption in Favor of Chas. M. Whitney—Two Partners at Loggersheads—Injunctions Granted by Judge Barclay and Judge Valliant—A Poplar Street Track Verdict.

Belle Watch filed a petition in Judge Barclay's court this morning, asking the court to refuse the prayer of Seneca M. Taylor, as a signee of Chas. M. Whitney, that there be exempted for the benefit of the assignee certain assets, including six shares of the capital stock of the Advance Building Co. The plaintiff says that she is one of Whitney's creditors, that he is longer a resident of the state, that the assignment failed to reserve any claim of exemption to the assignor as the head of a family, but that the amount now due him in the court of record of October 21 are worth more than the law allows as exempt to such an one, and that the arrangement was approved. It is stated that a day be appointed to hear evidence in the matter.

Nine Points of the Law.

Judge Barclay announced this morning that he would give a hearing in the afternoon to the petition of Rudolph Schmitz, who filed a suit in the Circuit Court yesterday against William H. Lohmann, asking that a receiver be appointed for the firm of Lohmann & Schmitz.

In May last, the two men agreed to go into partnership to do business, each agreeing to contribute $1,000 towards the firm's capital and to share equally in the profits. The firm complains that Lohmann failed to observe the agreement between them by lending $900 of the capital to the defendant, and that he has been on his part suspected of being of his creditors, and that when the plaintiff on October 18 gave notice in writing that he was to be given the sole key to the safe containing the books and valuable papers of the firm, he is now running the business and handling the cash to suit himself. Schmitz says all the property he owns is now in the hands of the defendant, and it is impossible to come to an amicable agreement with the defendant, who is alleged to be under the influence of the plaintiff. The im-portment of the latter is described in graphic adjectives. The Lohmanns have possession said to be the true title of the law—but Schmitz is loath to take his chances on the strength of the remainder.

Restraining Order Granted.

Judge Valliant this morning granted the plaintiff a temporary restraining order against the defendant, also requiring the latter to appear on the 8th inst., and show cause why an injunction should not be issued, in the case of the St. Louis Quarry Co. against the St. Louis Steel & Wire Co. The plaintiff enjoins the defendant from going on Vandeventer avenue, between Franklin and Olive streets, and
from using or employing any of his
employees therein during such time as the plaintiff may be engaged in making the street,
under its contract with the city.

Notes in Court.

Allen R. Ennis has entered suit in the Circuit Court against Thomas C. South to recover $200. It is alleged that when South purchased from Ennis last June the groceries and fixtures of the premises at 249 Olive street he agreed to pay $200, but that he failed to do so.
Ennis says the fixtures were sold to another, and that they were taken away by South, he being afterwards compelled to make good the balance.

The jury in the case of Michael Reber against the Oregon Pacific Railroad refused to find that the Poplar street track depreciated the value of the plaintiff's property, and returned a verdict for $100, but that he failed to do so.
Reber sued for the destruction of his porch and locomotive that had derailed on the track.

Mr. Edward Hanan Hester have brought suit against Abe Katz and Albert Ayer, who failed some time ago, for $800,

An INDIAN TERROR.
Old Harrison Hogan's Desperate Battle With Two Deputy Sheriffs.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., November 3.—Armed with two shot-guns, two revolvers and unlimited ammunition, old Harrison Hogan, the "Terror" of this part of the State, kept two deputy sheriffs at bay for several hours last Thursday, and according to latest reports, is still at it. He is over 70 years old, has been at war with the law for over 20 years, has been at war with the sheriff, originally in a revolver, and with others who entered against him. He has refused to enter a court of the court and defies all efforts to arrest him. On Thursday last, Deputy Sheriff Lincoln and Sheriff H. C. Bell, of Jeffersonville, decided to make another attempt to capture the old man. They went to Bull Creek, on which Hogan lives, and surrounded him, but he daubed to lure him out by questioning him about the shooting in the neighborhood.
Hogans son, who was with him, was shot when the officers approached too near to his shooting castle, he opened fire on them with shotgun shells, and the battle raged until their ammunition was exhausted, when the officers retreated.
Hogan, however, was not satisfied, and the device was not

CHURCH CHAT.

Sunday-School Entertainment—Additional Sabbath Subjects.

The children of the Central Presbyterian Sunday school enjoy themselves immensely last night when they were entertained in the parlors of the church by Mr. William Graham, the Superintendent, and Mr. John Barron, the Assistant Superintendent. Last Sunday Mr.
Graham said to them that he wanted them all to come to the church on Friday night, for something would take place then that he thought they would enjoy. They were all invited to the invitation, and there were about 100 of them present. Half the school was spent down in the Sunday school room, and the other half were in the singing room, where they had just made up the piano. When they then entered their eyes opened and their faces beamed with astonishment. There were 100 people in the room, and the walls and beautifully spread with good things that made their hearts glad and their mouths water. The supper was served in a wonderful remedy.
